SPECIAL NOTICE

The Alaska Division of Insurance has asked that we notify participating insurers that adopt ISO forms or form-related rule revisions that they must accept the explanatory materials in the ISO filing submission. The Division will consider insurers that do not accept the explanatory materials as deviating from the ISO filing. These insurers must explain their deviation as they would in any other form or form-related rule revision. The Division will assume that insurers that have provided ISO with filing authorization have accepted the explanatory materials in filings ISO makes on their behalf unless the insurer provides a written explanation for the deviation. Insurers that have not provided ISO with filing authorization must include in their adoption letters to the Division a statement either acknowledging that they are accepting the explanatory materials that were part of the ISO filing, or an explanation for their deviation.
